Investment Objective, Focus & Approach

The investment objective of the underlying Aberdeen Select Portfolio - Singapore Equity Fund is to provide medium to long-term capital growth from a portfolio of Singapore equities.

The Underlying Manager’s investment philosophy is that markets are not always efficient. Superior returns are therefore attainable by identifying good securities (defined in terms of the fundamentals which the Underlying Manager believes will drive security prices over the long term) cheaply. This is achieved primarily through first-hand stock research and active management of portfolios.

In emphasising the primacy of corporate performance, the Underlying Manager tends to disregard the role of indices and the concept of relative return. Market capitalisation appears an unsound theoretical basis for a ‘neutral’ portfolio position, being an inherently historical construct, while consensus-driven demand is potentially distorting. Absolute return is held to be more important over the long term, with risks controlled primarily at the security level.

In respect of the Underlying Fund, the Underlying Manager may, in accordance with the provisions of the Deed of the Aberdeen Select Portfolio, invest in the securities of companies or institutions domiciled in, operating principally from, or deriving significant revenue from the relevant country or countries (as the case may be).

Risks

In addition to the risks stated in the Product Summary, the following are risks specific to the Underlying Fund:

Market Risk

The usual risks of investing in listed and unlisted securities apply. Prices of securities may rise or fall in response to changes in economic conditions, political conditions, interest rates, and market sentiment. These may cause the price of Units in the Underlying Fund to go up or down as the price of Units is based on the current market value of the investments of the Underlying Fund.

Political Risk

The Underlying Fund invest in countries with less stable political and economic environments and in securities' markets with lower levels of regulation and different accounting, commercial and market practices than those of acceptable international standards are likely to increase the overall risk of the Underlying Fund.

Liquidity Risk

The securities markets of some countries lack the liquidity, efficiency, regulatory and supervisory controls of more developed markets. The lack of liquidity may adversely affect the value or ease of disposal of assets, thereby increasing the risk of investing in such markets.

Settlement Risk/Transactions Risk

The property of the Underlying Fund is held by the Trustee on behalf of the Holders, separate from the Trustee's assets. It is therefore protected in the event of the insolvency of the Trustee. There is, however, still a risk that there may be a temporary delay in subscriptions and redemptions of the Units.

Regulatory Risk

The investment objectives and parameters of the Underlying Fund are restricted by applicable legislation and regulatory guidelines. There may be a risk that legislative or regulatory changes may make it less likely for the Underlying Fund to achieve its objectives.

Currency Risk /Exchange Rate Risk

The assets and income of the Underlying Fund will be substantially denominated in currencies other than the Singapore dollar. Currency fluctuations between foreign currencies and the Singapore dollar may affect the income and valuation of the assets of the relevant Underlying Fund in ways unrelated to business performance. Investors should note that the Underlying Manager generally does not hedge the currency positions of the Underlying Fund unless circumstances require it and/or as mentioned in the Aberdeen Select Portfolio Prospectus.

Taxation

Investors should note that the proceeds from the sale of securities in some markets or the receipt of any dividends or other income may be or may become subject to tax, levies, duties or other fees or charges imposed by the authorities in that market, including taxation levied by withholding at source. Tax law and practice in certain countries into which the Underlying Fund invests or may invest in the future (in particular other emerging markets) is not clearly established. It is possible therefore that the current interpretation of the law or understanding of practice might change, or that the law might be changed with retrospective effect. It is therefore possible that the Underlying Fund could become subject to additional taxation in such countries that is not anticipated either at the date of the Aberdeen Select Portfolio Prospectus or when investments are made, valued or disposed of.

Repurchase or Securities Lending Agreements

While the value of the collateral of repurchase or securities lending agreements will exceed the value of the securities transferred, if there is a sudden market movement, there is a risk that the value of such collateral may fall below the value of the securities transferred.

Derivative Usage

The Underlying Fund may use financial derivative instruments for the purposes of hedging and/or efficient portfolio management to the extent permitted in the Deed. In no event are financial derivative instruments used to lever an Underlying Fund.

Counterparty Risk

In some markets there may be no secure method of delivery against payment which would avoid credit risk exposure to a counterparty. Each Underlying Fund may enter into transactions and other contracts that entail a credit exposure to certain counterparties. To the extent that a counterparty defaults on its obligation and the Underlying Fund is delayed or prevented from exercising its rights with respect to the investments in its portfolio, it may experience a decline in the value of its position, a loss of income and possible additional costs associated with asserting its rights. Where financial instruments are dealt in over-the-counter markets ("OTC"), it may be necessary to make payment on a purchase or delivery on a sale before receipt of the securities or, as the case may be, sale proceeds.

Capacity Restrictions

There is a possibility that an Underlying Fund may be closed to new subscriptions or switches into such Underlying Fund without prior notice to its holders in certain circumstances, for instance, where the Underlying Fund has reached a size such that the capacity of the market and/or the capacity of the relevant Investment Adviser has been reached, and where to permit further inflows would be detrimental to the performance of the Underlying Fund.

Specific Risk

Exposure to a single country market increases potential volatility because the concentration in a single country market makes it less diversified compared to an exposure to specific regional or global markets.

In addition to the fees and charges shown in the Product Summary, the following fees are also payable through deduction from the asset value of the Underlying Fund:

Conflicts of Interest

The Underlying Manager may from time to time have to deal with competing or conflicting interests of the Underlying Fund with other funds managed by the Underlying Manager. For example, the Underlying Manager may make a purchase or sale decision on behalf of some or all of the other funds managed by them without making the same decision on behalf of the Underlying Fund, as a decision whether or not to make the same investment or sale for the Underlying Fund depends on factors such as the cash availability and portfolio balance of the Underlying Fund. However, the Underlying Manager will use reasonable endeavours at all times to act fairly and in the interests of the Underlying Fund. In particular, after taking into account the availability of cash and relevant investment guidelines of the other funds managed by the Underlying Manager and Underlying Fund, the Underlying Manager will endeavour to ensure that securities bought and sold will be allocated proportionately as far as possible among the Underlying Fund and the other funds managed by the Underlying Manager.

The factors which the Underlying Manager will take into account, when determining if there is any conflict of interest as described in the paragraph above, include the aggregation of the purchase of the assets of the Underlying Fund. To the extent that another fund managed by the Underlying Manager intends to purchase substantially similar assets, the Underlying Manager will ensure that the assets are allocated fairly and proportionately and that the interests of all investors are treated equally between the Underlying Fund and the other funds.

The Underlying Manager and the Trustee shall conduct all transactions with or for the Underlying Fund on an arm's length basis.

Associates of the Trustee may be engaged to provide financial, banking and brokerage services to the Underlying Fund. Such services where provided, will be on an arm's length basis.
